Funny, little, casual time management game, like many others. But I like those games. And this one is nice and colourful!. Pretty good time wasting game. No complaints here.. i like alawar games and i like time management games. thing is, i like to play levels in my own pace, i dont care about achievements or gold stars but eg sometimes i like to max out all buildings, sometimes im lazy to wait around for that.

these type of games i find relaxing and entertaining.

i dont care about the not-so-attractive graphics or the one bug but i really hate that the game rushes me. i know, its TIME management, still, if i wanted an adrenalin rush, id play an another genre. dont rush me, if im slow deny me those ah-so-coveted gold stars. with this genre i expect relaxation not frustration.

so, unfortunately i wont finish this game, and because of the above i cant recommend it.

on the other hand, if you dont mind trying a level again (andagainandagain) because the game kills your rescuees, it might be just for you.

Mia, a fellow steam user brought to my attention that this game has a 'relaxed mode', where you dont have to play against the timer. im not sure the game had this feature before, quite possibly it did and i skipped it the clever guy i am. so thanks, and though it wont be my favourite time management game, my rating is changed to recommended.

and im getting senile and i forgot why i actually disliked this game, i started again (no steam cloud) and at about the 12th map i remembered: fire kills my rescuees. so sorry Mia, changed back to not recommended.. I loved this game! Too bad this is the only game in the series that is for mac. Would buy them all otherwise.

Anyways, I'll say a few thoughts. At first I was disappointed when I first loaded up the game because I thought instead of people I would manage police cars, ambulances, and firetrucks. Which I thought would be a neat spin on the genre! (why's it always gotta be people??) Anyways, regardless of that, I still really enjoyed it.

Managed to get all achievemnts except for level 48 which is bugged on mac still. Apparently the devs only fixed it for PC. Pretty sad that the devs don't give a \u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665 about mac. But I guess it's whatever. Not a big deal, I'm not really an achievements addict. But if you are, get it for PC lol. Not that it matters cause the achievements are only in game and most people are Steam achievemnts addicts, specifically.

Anyways, on to a new series!. bought it for less than a dollar, fun easy game. You get what you expect
